Literature on Issues and Strategies

Supply, Demand, Development, Recruitment, Retention, and Preparation of Education Personnel from Historically Under-Represented Groups, 1984-1996

A Never-Ending Bibliography

This unfinished bibliography cites literature on a wide variety of information that is relevant to producing qualified personnel from historically under-represented groups for careers in general education, special education, and related services. Topics of this collection include: the supply of and demand for personnel from under-represented groups; issues in educational attainment; recruitment and retention; attrition in the education force; preparation factors specific to trainees from under-represented groups; cultural bias and barriers; learning styles and cultural styles; campus conditions and climate; and others. The bibliography cites literature thought to be generally retrievable in college libraries.
